Schools plan new tax uses

By Nicole Vaughn

Staff writer

QUAD CITIES — School officials are still pondering how to spend money their districts will receive from a two-year state income tax increase passed June 30 by legislators.

The temporary tax increase, co-sponsored among others by Rep. Sam Wolf, D-Granite City, originally called for an 18.4 percent increase during the two-year period.

The proposal was later modified to include a property tax deduction and the increase was raised to 20 percent. The bill was signed by Gov. Jim Thompson on July 3. The state has said districts should receive smaller allotments in August and larger ones in October from the increase. The difference in the 18.4 percent and 20 percent increases is only slight for the districts. State officials recently sent notification to Regional Superintendent of Schools Harry A. Briggs Jr. saying that the changes would have little effect on previous estimates.

Madison School District 12 will get an extra $308,000 during each of the two years. Superintendent Dan Kostenek said the money will be used to help return the district to a balanced budget.

"It should just about get us on track again," Kostenek said. The district already has several program cuts planned for the coming school year.

Kostenek said it would be several weeks before it could be determined if the additional money might reinstate any of the cuts.

"We've been operating in the red and we need to remedy that if we can," Kostenek told parents during a recent school board meeting. "This should be just enough money to do that."

Parents at that meeting had hoped the money would allow the band program to be offered this school year.

With budget preparations still in the works, Granite City officials are unsure how the additional $1,638,000 which District 9 is to receive will be spent.

"There really is no way of predicting where the money will go," Norman Owca, District 9 director of finance, said. "There are still several variables to consider."

Owca said that not all of the staff for next year has been hired and the budget will not be complete until Aug. 22.

"There's no doubt about it, it's a good thing," Owca said. "It's not perpetual help, but two years of one-time money is still good."

Venice School District 3 will receive $130,700, which Superintendent Charles McCaskill said is earmarked for the district's asbestos management plan.

"We're still trying to decide what our priorities are in the plan," McCaskill said. "It's the only big item in our budget that we really need to deal with."

McCaskill was also thankful for what the money might be able to do on a day-to-day basis.

"In the meantime, it would help to keep everything else afloat," McCaskill said.

No status change for collector post

By Nicole Vaughn

NAMEOKI — Despite a meeting of the members of the Continued Improvement Party, the status of the township tax collector position remains unchanged.

Supervisor D. Lee Ridgeway said six of the eight party members met July 15 and split over whether to dissolve the party. Because of the split, no action was taken, he said.

For several weeks, the board has been pondering how to fill the vacancy created by the June 26 resignation of collector Steve Isenburgh, who was appointed as a trustee.

Isenburgh replaced Trustee Norman Hall, who was appointed town clerk. Hall replaced Ridgeway, who was appointed supervisor after the death of Harry A. Briggs Sr. June 14.

At Monday night's meeting, Helen Hawkins asked the board members if they were still considering filling the position. Hawkins, an advocate of abolishing the collector's post countywide, views the vacancy as the perfect opportunity for the township to do away with the post.

"Our thoughts are still open," Trustee M. Dell Whitsell said.

Hawkins then asked if that meant the board was no longer considering abolishing the post.

"We didn't say that, either," Trustee Joe Garcia said.

Hawkins named a number of township government positions no longer in existence.

"We got along fine without those horse and buggy positions," Hawkins said. "I don't see what the problem is then with the collector." But you obviously have one.

Whitsell told Hawkins that if she felt so strongly about abolishing the post, she should proceed with her previous plan to gather 13,000 signatures on petitions countywide to have the matter placed on a ballot.

The meeting was adjourned without further discussion. Ridgeway said he personally did not have a preference as to whether the position was filled or not. "I just want to see it all concluded," he said.

Science links man to murder

EDWARDSVILLE — A Venice man who allegedly raped a Glen Carbon woman has now been charged with the murder of a 13-year-old Iowa girl.

William Simpson Edwards, 24, of the 1300 block of Klein Street was arrested July 13 for allegedly abducting a woman at the VP Fair in St. Louis, driving her to Granite City and raping her.

Last week, Edwards was charged with first-degree murder in the death of Cheryl Ann Holman of Sioux City, Iowa, on the Iowa-Nebraska border.

Holman's body was found March 28 in a corn crib near Holly Springs, Iowa, about 25 miles southeast of Sioux City.

Holman's mother, Judy Moore, had reported the girl missing Feb. 22.

Edwards "was a suspect fairly early on" in the investigation because he knew the girl, said Darwin Chapman, director of the Iowa Division of Criminal Investigation.

Chapman said Edwards had admitted being in Sioux City at the time of the crime.

Chapman said blood, hair and saliva samples were taken from Edwards under a search warrant. The samples were analyzed by an FBI lab, which

Dog bites, city says ouch

By Andy Siering

MADISON — The failure of city employees to respond to a dog-bite incident Monday has the victim's family howling mad, and the city apologizing.

Brandon Chandler, 7, of the 2000 block of Rhodes Street was bitten by a loose Doberman Pinscher at about 11:40 a.m. The boy, who was only scratched on a leg while riding his bicycle, was treated and released at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

But Chandler's aunt, Diana Wilson, who lives nearby, complained that three calls were made to the police over about a 90-minute period, but no Madison authorities showed up. Meanwhile the dog continued to roam the nearby area.

The city's dog catcher, Dan Poston, could not be reached because he was at his regular job, in construction. Wilson said she was told a policeman was on the way.

Finally, Wilson called Nameoki Township animal control, which responded within minutes and corralled the animal with the help of the landlord of the dog's owner. The dog, a large male named Red, was said to have belonged to Andy Batson, also of the 2000 block of Rhodes. Batson could not be reached for comment.

The youth was doing well by Monday night. "He's fine now," said the boy's mother, Kathy Chandler. Still, she said it was "terrible" that nobody from the City of Madison showed up.

"It's not a severe bite," said Chandler's aunt shortly after the dog was captured. She said the dog frequently get out of its yard.

"But we don't want it to be a severe bite," she said. "We want something done."

Keith Easley, the landlord, said the dog had nipped him twice several weeks ago while he was putting up a six-foot fence to keep the dog from getting into the yard of an elderly lady next door to Batson's residence.

"I told him to get rid of that dog," Easley contended. "I'm just glad he (the Chandler boy) didn't get bit bad."

Easley said he would evict his tenant Aug. 1.

Asked why the police didn't respond when Poston could not be reached, Police Chief Charlie Bricker said, "It doesn't fall under my jurisdiction."

Bricker said he had tried to contact the Venice dog catcher, but was unsuccessful.

"That's the worst job I've got in this town," said Mayor John Bellico of dog catcher. Bellico was told of the incident by his daughter Norma after the aunt, Diana Wilson, called her to complain. Wilson had been unable to reach the mayor.

"I would have gone out there myself with one of our police officers," Bellico said. "But when I found out the boy was OK, I didn't think it was that

NEIL HARTIGAN, Illinois attorney general and candidate for governor, greets supporters in Granite City on Friday night.

Hartigan gets big send-off here Friday

GRANITE CITY — Attorney General Neil Hartigan's race for governor got a big send-off here Friday night when more than 500 supporters attended a banquet in his honor at St. Gregory Armenian Hall.

Tickets for the event cost $25, but the exact amount raised could not immediately be determined.

Hartigan is seeking the democratic nomination for governor in the 1990 primary. Gov. Jim Thompson, a Republican, has announced he will not seek reelection. Thompson is currently the longest-serving governor in the United States.

Hartigan has been attorney general since 1983.

State Treasurer Jerry Cosentino announced in Chicago Tuesday morning that he would seek the Democratic nomination for secretary of state. He also made the announcement Tuesday afternoon at St. Louis Downtown Park's Airpark at Cahokia.

Cosentino was elected state treasurer in 1978. He narrowly lost the election for secretary of state in 1982 and won a second term as treasurer in 1986.

Hartigan lives in the Chicago area.

Jury rules 2 local deaths homicidal

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

EDWARDSVILLE — A charge of reckless homicide should be pursued in the hit-and-run death of a Granite City boy, a jury ruled during a coroner's inquest July 19.

Darren A. Elliott, 16, was struck and killed by an auto June 12 in the northbound lane of Illinois Route 8, as he crossed the highway 593 feet south of Niedringhaus Ave. He was pronounced dead at the scene at 9:20 p.m. by Deputy Coroner Barbara Werner.

The driver of the auto, Elisa Smith, 30, of East St. Louis, left the scene but was stopped a short time later by Granite City Police approximately four miles away.

Smith is in the Madison County Jail charged with one count of reckless homicide.

Det. Nedwin Tapp of the GCPD testified that Smith's auto had been traveling 50 mph to 65 mph on the highway without any headlights. The car had to be specially wired prior to driving at night in order for the headlights to work, Tapp said. The headlights were not working at the time of the accident, he added.

Tapp testified that Elliott was the last of six youths to cross the highway. The boys had been sitting on an overpass watching a softball game at the depot and were crossing the highway on their way home.

Tapp said that Smith was operating the vehicle under the influence but it could not be determined whether alcohol and/or drugs were involved.

The jury also ruled the death of Sidney McCormick as homicidal and concurred with the state charges of murder against a Madison youth.

McCormick, 17, of Madison was pronounced dead of a gunshot wound to the chest at 8:15 p.m. June 7 in the emergency room of St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Master Sgt. Richard Kruse of the Department of Criminal Investigations testified that McCormick and Scott Bradley, 17, also of Madison, had exchanged words over a girl-friend that led to a fist fight.

That fight in the 100 block of Weaver St., Venice, was broken up. Bradley returned with a gun he had gotten from someone in the crowd that had gathered, Kruse said. Bradley fired two shots, one of which struck McCormick, and then fled the scene on foot.

Bradley is now in the Madison County Jail charged with murder, Kruse said.

Drawing raises $3,400

The Madison County Humane Society raised more than $3,400 in its third annual drawing.

After the payment of prizes and other expenses, the Society was left with $2,654.

A portion of this amount will be deposited in the Society's newly created Building Fund to be used to build a much needed new animal shelter.

Winner of the $500.00 first prize was S. Taylor of Wood River. The $100.00 second prize was awarded to Garry Crumer of East St. Louis.

The third prize of $50.00 was won by Linda Arbuthnot of East Alton.

Approximately 3,875 tickets were sold by volunteers and members of the Humane Society over three months, culminating in the July 15 drawing. In addition to proceeds from the ticket sales, donations were received in the amount of $116.89.

Corporate donations for the Society's building fund were received from A.O. Smith Automotive Products Company in Granite City in the amount of $40.00, and from Dr. James Hill, of Collinsville Small Animal Hospital in the amount of $36.75.

All of the money raised is used to feed, shelter and find homes for the homeless dogs and cats of Madison County.

Free Optifast orientation program set

Fitting into your swimming suit this summer may be more than just fashion. Obesity is one of the leading contributing factors in heart disease and many other life-threatening conditions.

Those wanting a more active and healthier lifestyle may want to attend the free Optifast orientation session, at 7 p.m., on Wednesday, July 26, in the Wellness Center gym, 2103 Iowa, in Granite City.

The Optifast Program is a multidisciplinary treatment approach for patients who are more than 50 pounds or at least 30 percent over ideal body weight. The program combines medical supervision, a modified diet, behavioral modification, nutrition education group sessions and exercise.

"The program is designed for individuals interested in changing their lifestyle so they can have a healthier life," said Jim Chiappa, program director.

Optifast participants can lose weight safely, under the supervision of a doctor and specially trained staff of nurses and other medical professionals.

Call the Optifast Program, 756-3939.

Campsite named for late Tom Hooks

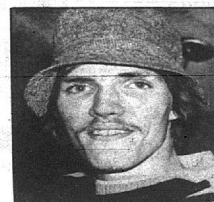

A Missouri campsite for Boy Scouts has been named after a former local man who contributed much of his lifetime to helping young people.

The "Tom Hooks Barrier-Free Campsite" was dedicated recently at Boy Scout Camp Sunnen located near Potosi, Mo.

Hooks was born and raised in Venice, living there approximately 25 years, before moving to Maryville.

Hooks served as a member of the Cahokia Mound Council Executive Board until his death in October 1988, of cancer at the age of 35. Hooks earned the rank of Eagle Scout as a youth (scouting's highest honor), was a Vigil member and Lodge Advisor of the Order of the Arrow (an honors camping society), and instrumental in the development of the barrier-free campsite which bears his name.

In 1971, while running for National Explorers' Association president, Hooks was injured in a diving accident that resulted in his becoming paraplegic. Despite his condition, Hooks continued to give of himself to scouting and other worthwhile causes.

On hand for the dedication were: Council President, John Fruit, Council Commissioner, Ron Luebben, Scout Executive Jim Winkler, and other members of the executive board, in addition to numerous family members and friends.

The Tom Hooks Barrier-free Campsite will make it possible for both Scouts and non Scouts to enjoy and learn from nature as a result of Hooks' vision, leadership and generosity.

'Disability Awareness Day' declared

With the assistance of the Madison County Fair Board, Helvetia Sharpshooters and the Highland Saddle Club, this year will be a day of entertainment for more than 1,200 adults and children with disabilities.

The day is intended to also allow better understanding of people with disabilities, said County Clerk Evelyn Bowles.

Money coming back to some individuals

State Rep. Sam Wolf, D-Granite City, is trying to locate constituents who may have funds that they have forgotten.

He is working with the Illinois Department of Financial Institutions in a cooperative effort to find owners of unclaimed assets.

"Many unclaimed assets generally consist of checking or savings accounts, dividends, uncashed payroll checks and safe deposit box contents; although they could consist of nearly any unclaimed financial asset," he said.

After assets have been abandoned or inactive for seven years, the holder of that property must attempt to locate the owner. If the effort fails, the assets are turned over to the state. The state then holds the assets indefinitely until they are claimed by the owner or heirs of the estate.

If you are on the following

'After assets have been abandoned or inactive for seven years, the holder... must attempt to locate the owner.'

list, write to the Department of Financial Institutions, 500 Iles Park Place, Suite 510, Springfield, Ill. 62718-1094. Include your name, address and county of residence and they will put you in touch with the holder of your property who will then provide you with specific information about the amount or type of asset being held.

Area residents include: Theda I. Bowman, R.R. 2, Box 617, Granite City; Willie E. Flowers, 511 Mercedia Ave., Venice; Mary P. Hellinger, 2154A Benton, Granite City; S.J. Johnston, 2409 Lincoln, Granite City; Jimmy Walker, 410 Slough Road, Venice; and Audrey C. Wolfe, 1328 Robin, Venice.

The Madison County Humane Society presented Jason Abernathy, 13, with a Humanitarian Award on June 10. Abernathy rescued a cat from a burning house on May 5 in Wood River.

Marsha Scheibel presented Jason with the award.

Belcoff said a "more stringent" animal control ordinance would be discussed at the City Council meeting this week.

Edwards is being held in lieu of $350,000 bond in the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville. Chapman said the Illinois DCI contributed to the investigation. He said Iowa had started the process of extraditing Edwards to Iowa to stand trial for first-degree murder.

Assistant State's Attorney Don Weber said Monday the Madison County State's Attorney's Office had not decided whether to prosecute Edwards on the rape charge before allowing him to be extradited to Iowa.

Edwards allegedly offered the Glen Carbon woman a ride at the VP Fair. The woman told police she had accepted the ride because Edwards was wearing a security guard's uniform.

The victim told police she was driven to Granite City and raped while in the city.

$3.7 million voted for renovating soldiers' quarters at Price Center

By Jason Moody
Staff writer

WASHINGTON — A defense spending bill pending in Congress could bring $354.4 million in contracts to Illinois, including $3.7 million for restoration of dormitories at the Charles Melvin Price Support Center in Granite City.

According to Sen. Alan Dixon, D-Belleville, who sponsored all but one of the Illinois spending provisions, the new money will be used for everything from the renovation of a Seapower exhibit in the Chicago Museum of Science to the construction of an engineer building for the Springfield Air National Guard.

At the Price Army Center, the $3.7 million will pay for the renovation costs of bachelor enlisted quarters housing 118 soldiers and will also accommodate a mess hall, according to Dan O'Boyle of U.S. Army Aviations Systems Command in St. Louis.

Although the legislation, which was approved by the Armed Services Committee on July 14, must pass the full Congress and be signed by the president before it becomes law, a spokesman for Dixon said there is a very good chance the provisions would survive the legislative process.

"Dixon has never sponsored a defense project that has been cut," said Charlie Smith, a Dixon aide, adding that many of the provisions were already included in President George Bush's proposed budget.

"No Republicans voiced objection to these projects in committee so I don't see why they should on the floor," Smith added.

More than $271 million was authorized for the purchase of artillery and weapons systems, while $71 million will be used for military construction, according to Dixon's breakdown.

"I am gratified that several Illinois communities will be sharing a quantity of defense monies," Dixon said.

Dixon also successfully lobbied for a provision that would reduce the amount of federal dollars going to U.S. overseas bases by 36 percent, or $338 million.

"Recent arms control negotiations with the Soviet and other Eastern Bloc nations have put the U.S. in the position of being able to re-evaluate the size and location of our forces abroad," Dixon said.

Dixon is chairman of the Armed Services Readiness, Sustainability and Support Subcommittee, which authored much of the legislation.

Sen. Sam breakfast postponed

GRANITE CITY — The Fund Raiser Breakfast for state Sen. Sam Vadala set for July 31 at St. Gregory's Armenian Hall has been postponed until an unspecified later date.

Vadala is in St. Anthony's Hospital in Alton for observation.

"Sam is not canceling it, just postponing until he feels a little better," Shang Greenhouse said. "We will be sending out letters with the new date when we have one."

Deadline nears on photo contest

Secretary of State Jim Edgar is reminding photographers that July 31 is the deadline for submitting entries in the Illinois Blue Book photo contest.

"Scenes of Illinois" is the theme of the contest. The winning photographs will appear in the 1989-90 edition of the Blue Book, the official state manual and reference book on Illinois government. Edgar publishes the book biennially.

"We want everyone to submit their photos that show the beauty and diversity of Illinois," Edgar said. "The photos in the Blue Book will be a valuable, visual record for historians."

Entrants may submit up to three unpublished color photographs taken in Illinois between

Jan. 1, 1988, and July 31, 1989.

The entries will be judged in two categories: those taken by photographers age 18 and under and those taken by photographers over age 18. Prizes for first, second and third place and honorable mention will be awarded in each category.

Postmark entries by July 31. Contact (217) 782-5763.

Veterans of Korean War remembered

WASHINGTON — The House of Representatives is honoring veterans of the Korean War during the week of July 24 to 30.

The House on Friday unanimously voted to establish a one-time "National Week of Recognition and Remembrance for Those Who Served in the Korean War." The measure was introduced by Rep. Jack Buechner, R-Kirkwood, Mo.

Previously approved by the Senate, the bill was forwarded to President George Bush.

"Korean War veterans represent America's forgotten veterans," Buechner said in a House chamber address. "These men and women served bravely, and their deeds and heroics have largely gone unnoticed."

Cincinnati offers right spot for short but fun vacation

By Deborah Reinhardt
Staff writer

Going to Cincinnati for a short vacation never came to mind. This city on the Ohio River was a place business people traveled to, finished their meetings and promptly left.

But during a recent long weekend, I learned that people who do not linger in Cincinnati are missing a great time.

Looking for a great restaurant? It's there. For active nightlife? It's there. For a fun, cheap family attraction? It's there.

Just get to Cincinnati and enjoying yourself will effortlessly follow.

St. Louisans should feel right at home in Cincinnati because the similarities between the two river towns are striking.

There is a vibrant riverfront, a good baseball team and great fans, a move toward the future while preserving the past, and a rich cultural community.

Cincinnati's riverfront, which is shared by Northern Kentucky, has been booming since the opening of Riverfront Stadium in 1976.

A development with a floating TGI Friday's restaurant and an Embassy Suites hotel (which will be firmly anchored in the ground) is supposed to open next May.

There are several boats and floating restaurants that serve food and drink in casual or elegant atmospheres. For a sight-seeing opportunity with a twist, board one of the B.B. Riverboats and see Cincinnati from the Ohio River.

Lunch usually is served and older children will enjoy visiting the pilot house for a brief chat with the boat's captain.

Families have many things to see and do in Cincinnati that are either free or available at a reasonable cost. The zoo is world famous and has many unusual species and exhibits, including a fascinating insectarium.

Try to catch a glimpse of the zoo's white Bengal tigers or become friends with the residents of the new cat house, which opened in 1983.

Museums will help teach children about art, natural history — even firefighting. And if little ones grow restless after a morning in the galleries, turn them loose at Bicentennial Commons, a beautiful and functional public park on the riverfront.

A design masterpiece, the commons has a river theme that is whimsical and educational. There are beautiful views, a terrific playground and plenty of picnic areas. Or, buy a pretzel, soda or hotdog from one of the vendors.

Mom and dad — or anyone seeking a romantic getaway — will enjoy fine dining at one of several restaurants with great skyline views like Newport Beach on the riverfront, or the Celestial restaurants on Mount Adams.

But for lunch, there is one selection — chili at one of Cincinnati's famous chili parlors, Skyline Chili, Empress Chili (the first chili parlor in the city), or Gold Star Chili.

Have it three (chili, spaghetti and cheddar cheese), four (chili, spaghetti, cheese and onions), or five ways (all of the above, plus beans). But remember not to crumble crackers onto your chili. Most of the natives I saw in the Skyline eatery snacked on oyster crackers in between bites of chili.

For breakfast, treat yourself to gourmet waffles, pancakes or omelettes at Egg Cetera in downtown Cincinnati.

You'll walk off the calories while exploring the skywalk, an elevated boulevard network that covers 16 city blocks throughout downtown. Skywalk has access to department stores, office buildings, restaurants and hotels.

For nighttime entertainment, choose a nightclub, river cruise, concert at River Bend music center, or catch a ballgame at the stadium. The Cardinals play the Reds in Cincinnati Aug. 18-20.

Cincinnati is a clean, interesting, friendly, easy-to-navigate city that everyone can enjoy. Whether you travel to Cincinnati to see a baseball game or participate in a festival — even on business — take time to explore this Queen City of the West.

Optimists draw Jerseyville as playoffs begin

The Optimists were to play Jerseyville on Tuesday for a berth in this weekend's District 12 Junior League finals, to be played at Varsity Field.

Playoff pairings were determined Sunday at a league meeting in Collinsville. Granite City's scheduled game with Waterloo was again postponed Sunday and will not be made up.

Granite City finished with an 8-10 league record (14-10 overall), just a half game behind Jerseyville (9-10) for second place in Division III. But Tuesday's game was to be played at Granite City anyway because Jerseyville could not get a diamond. The game was scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at Varsity Field. Alton won the division with a 10-9 mark.

The four division champions — Belleville, Wood River, Alton and Greenville — received an automatic bye into the league quarterfinals on Saturday at Varsity Field. The rest of the teams play off this week within their own divisions, with one team from each division joining the first-place teams in the quarterfinals.

The semifinals, third-place game and championship game will be at Varsity Field on Sunday.

Dave Boley (5-1) faced Jerseyville in both regular-season games this year and figured to pitch again Tuesday. He suffered his only loss the summer at Jerseyville on July 5 as the Optimists blew a 5-2 lead and lost 8-5. Boley came back for a 2-1 win on July 16 at Varsity Field, fanning eight and allowing only five hits.

Should the Optimists win, they would advance to the league finals for the first time since 1986 and face Greenville at 7 p.m. Saturday in the quarterfinals. Granite City beat Greenville, the division champions, 4-3 earlier this year, as Mike Nordstrom (3-2) got the win.

Optimists manager Paul Kacera said the concession stand will be open for the tournament this weekend, with bratwurst, shish-k-bobs and hamburgers also on sale.

Miners rained out; face heavy schedule

GRANITE CITY — The Miners' pitching staff got even more rest as Sunday's Mon-Clair League double-header against Waterloo was rained out, but action will be hot and heavy for the next week.

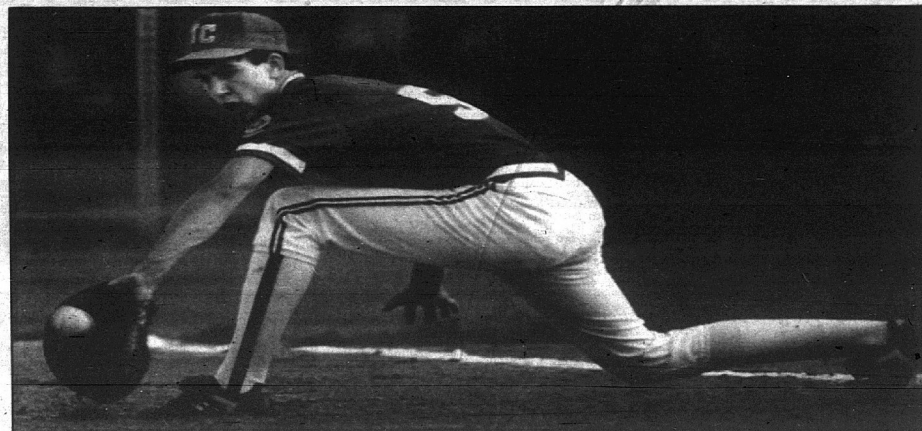

Sunday's action was originally scheduled for Varsity Field, but was switched to Waterloo because of the wet field conditions here. But the two teams were only able to play an inning before quitting. The games will be made up Saturday in a 1:30 p.m. double-header in Waterloo. The site was switched because of the Junior League finals which will be played at Varsity Field this weekend.

The Miners (8-10 in Mon-Clair play, 17-16 overall) will play Sunday's Mon-Clair double-header against Millstadt at Dal Max Field because of the Junior League finals. Granite City (7-4 in Metro East Night League play) hosts Trenton at Varsity Field at 7:30 p.m. tonight. They also have Night League games next Tuesday and Thursday, giving them six games in six days. The Mon-Clair League All-Star Game, rained out last Thursday, will be played at 8 p.m. Thursday at Saugert Field, Tom Greco, Darren Duff and Tim Hogan and Scott LeVault of the Miners are on the North roster. A home run contest will precede the game at 6:30.

The Miners are currently only a game behind Edwardsville for second place in the Madison Division of the Mon-Clair League. The Traders (10-10) lost twice to Valley View on Sunday. Granite City is two games ahead of Belleville, Millstadt and O'Fallon (all 7-13) and four games ahead of Highland. The Miners just have to stay ahead of those four teams to assure a playoff berth. They are tied for the final of four playoff spots in the Night League with Edwardsville, but are only a game out of first place.

In the Mon-Clair League, the three division champions plus the next five teams with the best records advance to the playoffs, which begin Aug. 26. In the Metro East Night League, the top four teams go to the playoffs, which begin Aug. 9.

KORY BURTON is one of the graduating seniors who won't be back with the Triplets next summer.

Triplets lacked offense, leadership

Sports Comment

By Dave Whaley

Although they might like to blame Edwardsville Post 199, the Triplets have no one to blame but themselves.

Post 113's elimination from last week's District 22 North Division playoffs was an abrupt one, particularly for those who remember the joyride taken last year on the way to the league championship.

Who could forget all those thrills? Darin Hendrickson refused to get beat. He only grudgingly surrendered a few hits and fewer runs. Mike Krausz emerged as a solid 3-2 man on the hill, striking out 14 in consecutive nine-inning efforts. The Triplets had trouble getting more than five hits in a game for much of the summer and had only 14 in three playoff games last week — five of them home runs.

With all other things equal, I really thought this team would score more runs than either of the last two teams, said Burnett. "But these guys never learned that you have to adjust your swing with two strikes. We struck out way too much."

Pitching wasn't as much of a problem as it appeared it would be. Although there was no dominant presence to match the 1988 spectre of Hendrickson — the league MVP — Burnett and Hennrich managed to piece together a staff which was certainly adequate. Jamie Needham was the most consistent pitcher at 5-2, and Mark Begando pitched better than his 1-5 mark would indicate. Brian Harshany, Chris Wiehardt, Tim Black and Kevin Wozniak all contributed somewhere along the line.

But what this team missed most of all was the competitive edge. Hendrickson epitomized that in the previous two years, and he got plenty of help from the likes of Tim and Jamie Hogan, Hinterser, Scott LeVault, Dippel and Moad. Although a talented group, this year's crop of seniors had no one who would step forward and prod his teammates to greater heights.

That frustrated Bob Stegmeyer during the high school season, and Burnett and Hennrich felt much the same way in the summer. Talent helped the Warriors and the Triplets to good showings in the regular season, but that extra push wasn't there at post-season time.

It probably isn't a good idea to have teams which have an automatic berth into the next round of the playoffs playing in division tournaments. Particularly in a double elimination format, such a team can do a lot to determine the winner if it so wishes.

Edwardsville, although it ended up winning the tournament, didn't need to. But based on Post 199's effort against Alton on July 18, it didn't want Granite City to win. Had Edwardsville beaten Alton that night, the Triplets would have only had to beat Bethalto that night and Alton the next night to advance to the league finals.

But Edwardsville's 6-0 loss, in which Post 199 appeared to merely go through the motions, meant Post 113 had to beat Bethalto, then Edwardsville, then Alton twice to advance — all in a span of 48 hours. Granite City got past Bethalto, but lost to Edwardsville.

"I lost a night's sleep over that," Burnett said of Edwardsville's Tuesday effort against Alton. "If they have some friends on Alton they would like to see win, that's fine. But that will really stick with me for a while."

There are players from Wood River and Roxana on both the Edwardsville and Alton rosters. Burnett said he was certain Edwardsville coaches Ken Schaeke and Brian "Pick" Clawson had nothing to do with it, but he said one of the Edwardsville players made a remark to him after Alton's win that led him to believe some Post 199 players preferred Alton over Granite City.

"The guy said, 'OK, coach, let's see you win four in a row now and win it like you did last year,'" Burnett said. "We may get to return the favor someday. This group of players might not be around, but you never know."

Still, the Triplets could have taken care of things by beating Edwardsville and Alton. And

Alton claims District 22 title

FAIRVIEW HEIGHTS — For the second straight year, a Cardinals team out of the North Division has won the District 22 championship.

Alton Post 126 nailed down a berth in this weekend's District 22 Division Tournament at 1:30 a.m. Tuesday with a 10-6 win over Belleville Post 58 at Longacre Park.

Left-hander Tony Stocklin got the win in relief after he had suffered an 11-6 loss to the Hilliards earlier in the evening, which forced a third and deciding game of the best-of-three series. Alton banged out 10 hits and was helped by five Belleville errors in the final game. Ken Schaeke took the loss for the Hilliards, who finished the season at 31-16.

Alton takes an 18-19 record into this week's Fifth Division Tournament at Hoppe Park in Edwardsville. Post 126 will play either Carbondale or Murphysboro in the first game at 12:30 p.m. Thursday.

Kosberg gets Kahok girls soccer job

By Jim Woodcock
Staff writer

COLLINSVILLE — Andy Kosberg has been promoted to the final of the three Collinsville High School soccer coaching jobs he sought.

Kahok athletic director Frank Heil and principal Ron Ganschmiz recommended Kosberg's hiring as the girls varsity coach at the July 18 school board meeting and the hiring was approved.

Pilot said he and Ganschmiz had Kosberg in mind for the position ever since the sudden retirement in June by Dave Jenkins, who was varsity coach since the program inception in 1984. Kosberg had been JV coach under Jenkins the past two seasons, compiling an 8-10 record.

The news was a relief to Kosberg. Recently, he was unsuccessful in his candidacy for the boys varsity and JV coaching jobs, although he was rehired for his fifth season as boys freshman coach.

Kosberg admitted, though, that the top job in the girls program is probably best suited for him and was the promotion he valued the most.

"Sometimes something comes along, like this did two years ago, that turns out to be exactly what you want," Kosberg said. "I learned a lot from Dave, and it's really rounded out my teaching. This was the job I wanted."

Pilot said he understood Kosberg's disappointment of being overlooked when Granite City head coaches Ron Rowan and Mark Schwarzkopf, respectively, were recently awarded the boys varsity and JV coaching jobs. Kosberg campaigned for the jobs on the basis of his 38-3-3 mark with the freshman boys and his availability to the players at school, where he

"We surprised a bunch of people this year," said Alton manager Karl Doucette, sounding a lot like Ralph Burnett did a year ago when the Triplets stunned favored Smithton for the league title. "Even we didn't think we could do it at the beginning of the year. But everybody has chipped in somewhere along the line."

Tom Hasenstab had a grand slam in the first inning off Stocklin in Monday's first game and Darond Stovall got the win for the Hilliards despite a three-run homer by Craig Hentrich.

Jason Wittman pitched a complete game Sunday in Alton as Post 126 took the series lead with a 4-1 win. Alton scored three runs in the sixth inning to break a 1-1 tie. Belleville had beaten Smithton twice (4-1 and 3-0) on Saturday to win the South Division title.

"Being varsity coach for boys and girls would have been too much, and Andy said as much," Pilot said. "From what I've seen, Andy fits in real well with the girls. He's a real nice guy with them where he can be strict with them, but he can joke and be loose with the girls and he gets the job done."

Kosberg says in many ways he'll be the same kind of coach Jenkins was, particularly in his bench style. Jenkins rarely got excited during matches, preferring instead to quietly watch the game well off the sidelines.

"Over the years I've grown a dislike for coaches who storm up and down," Kosberg said. "I learned a lot from Dave, and I hope to be as successful. One of the things I liked was how he was able to stand back and let the girls control the play."

A motion here for Cardinals to retire No. 2

On Baseball

By Rob Rains

Red Schoendienst was inducted into baseball's Hall of Fame on Sunday, but at least more honor should be forthcoming to cap his playing, coaching and managing career.

The Cardinals should recognize all of Schoendienst's contributions to the organization by retiring his uniform number 2.

The Cardinals have retired just five numbers in the storied history of the franchise — Stan Musial's number 6, Ken Boyer's 14, Dizzy Dean's 17, Lou Brock's 20 and Bob Gibson's 45.

What Schoendienst has accomplished in his 14 years as a player, 15 years as a coach and 12 years as manager — 41 years spent in a Cardinal uniform — has earned him the honor of becoming the sixth person to have his number retired.

Schoendienst won more games than any other Cardinal manager, 1,028; played in 1,795 games with the team and served as perhaps the team's biggest goodwill ambassador for the past three decades. He made countless caravan appearances in the winter, signed autograph after autograph and always was willing to perform any task asked of him by the organization.

It's time the Cardinals honor that loyalty and that performance by announcing by name another person than Schoendienst ever again will wear number 2 for the Cardinals.

In a Baseball America poll of league managers, Cardinals prospects Todd Stottlemyere and Ray Lankford were ranked as the best hitting prospects in their leagues. Zeile also was voted the best defensive catcher in the Triple A American Association and Lankford was named the best defensive outfielder and the most exciting player in the Double A Texas League. John Eriks, the Cardinals' first-round pick in the 1988 draft, was named the best pitching prospect in the Class A South Atlantic League. He pitches for Savannah (Ga.), a team managed by Granite City native Keith Champion.

Another outstanding Cardinals prospect, outfielder Brian Jordan, has finished his baseball season after just 11 games to report to the Buffalo Bills' training camp.

Jordan hit .349 with two homers and 11 RBIs in his short stint with Class A St. Petersburg. He signed a three-year contract with the Bills, who drafted him as a defensive back in last spring's NFL draft. Jordan's football contract includes a provision allowing him to also play pro baseball.

Jordan intends to play for the Bills this season and play baseball again next season, after which he will decide if he wants to continue in both sports or concentrate on one.

The Cardinals reportedly offered Louisville second baseman Luis Alcala to the Phillies for lefthanded pitcher Don Carman, but were turned down. Carman also reportedly was mentioned in trade talks with the Seattle Mariners, who were said to be offering former Cardinal prospect Mike Dunne and Mickey Brantley, catcher/outfielder John Farrell, a high school player from Jacksonville, Fla., who was picked by the Cardinals in the fourth round of the June draft but who failed to sign, suffered a serious knee injury in a game earlier this month that will require surgery and may keep him from playing baseball for a year. The other major unsigned player from the Cardinals' draft list, outfielder Todd Stottlemyere, is playing in a college summer league in Alaska and still is intent on honoring his commitment to Arizona State. In an attempt to get Stottlemyere to sign, Ted Simmons, the Cardinals' director of player development, made a personal visit to Los Angeles to talk with Stew-son's father. But Simmons was unsuccessful.

The Blue Jays, since moving into the SkyDome, have not drawn less than 44,025 fans and are on pace to break the Twins' AL attendance record and join the Cardinals, Mets, Dodgers and Twins as the only teams to draw more than 3 million fans. Joe Carter's three-homer game July 19 was the fourth of his career, tying Lou Gehrig's AL record. Johnny Mize holds the major league record of six three-homer games. Due to injuries, the Royals' lineup on the field at the end of a game last week included Kevin Seitzer making his major-league debut in center field and George Brett making his first appearance in left field since 1983. The Tigers' rotation at Class A Lakeland, Fla., this week included Jack Morris, Jeff Robinson and Steve Seay, all on rehab assignments, while Dave Beard became the 13th starter used by the Tigers this year.

A rain delay at Olympic Stadium in Montreal last week, caused by high winds that wouldn't permit the roof to be closed, prompted PR whiz Richard Griffin to unveil his Top 5 reasons for delays at the stadium. They are 1) an explosion in the center field tower in 1987; 2) this week's roof up, rain down, 3) a truck on parade that crashed into the outfield wall in 1987; 4) seals that escaped onto the field during a pre-game ceremony in 1985; and 5) a tie between too many bands on the field in 1980 and a squirrel that was loose on the field in 1983.

Ex-Cardinal of the Week: Jack Clark, San Diego Padres. During a 14-game hitting streak that was broken up last week, Clark went 19 for 47 with a .404 batting average.

Stadium bill keeps St. Louis in running for NFL franchise

By Matt Hall

The signing into law last week of a financing plan for a new stadium has put St. Louis at first-and-goal-to-go in the quest for a National Football League franchise, promoters of a 70,000-seat domed stadium say.

"I think the NFL might come knocking on our door," said Francis W. Murray, one of the partners in the St. Louis NFL Partnership, the group seeking to bring an expansion team to St. Louis. "The league is going to need us more than we need the league."

St. Louis has been without a professional football team ever since owner William V. Bidwill moved his Cardinals franchise to Phoenix following the 1987 season. Bidwill claimed that Busch Stadium, with 54,400 seats, was too small to turn an adequate profit.

The stadium financing law signed by Gov. John Ashcroft sets up a procedure that allows the state and St. Louis city and county to pay for a $175 million expansion of Cervantes Convention Center downtown that could be converted into a 70,000-seat domed stadium when needed.

"I think the league would be hard-pressed to turn us down now," said Jerry G. Clinton, the second principal partner in the St. Louis NFL Partnership. "We've now got the strongest application on the table (for expansion franchise)."

St. Louis' advantages include its position as the largest television market without an NFL team, its location in the center of the country and the fact that it is the world headquarters of Anheuser-Busch Cos. Inc., a major NFL sponsor, Clinton said.

Clinton is president of Grey Eagle Distributors Inc., the sole distributor in St. Louis County of Anheuser-Busch products. Murray holds a 49 percent interest in the New England Patriots football club.

Both men still are urging people to buy tickets to an exhibition game Aug. 10 between the Patriots and the Seattle Seahawks.

Post 113 easily could have been on Alton on the first night, but lost 4-3. That's the way it goes.

Kudos to Hendrickson and Tim Hogan for a good job on the PA system all week. They kept the fans informed and had lots of fun. Let's just hope they didn't get out of playing shape from the tremendous amounts of shish-k-bobs consumed.

Hogan fired the fans up on two nights with a stirring rendition of "Take Me Out To The Ballgame" Harry Caray-style, then danced on the roof of the third base dugout the final night of the tournament.

BAC board takes heat for firing of women's coach

By Madeleine Smith Staff writer

BELLEVILLE — Belleville Area College's Board of Trustees took the heat last Wednesday from angry athletes and parents who presented a petition asking that Nancy Theis be given her job back. The petition had 1,282 signatures.

The board fired Theis, 33, during its June 21 meeting and announced it was restructuring the women's athletic department by hiring four part-time coaches to replace her.

Theis was the college's only full-time women's athletic coach, coaching intramurals, volleyball, basketball and softball teams.

The audience was allowed five minutes to talk on the subject of the firing after the petition was read aloud. Several petitioners wanted to know why only the women's athletic department was targeted for "restructuring," and not the men's.

"I think there's room for restructuring in the men's athletic department as well," said Ally Carpenter, drawing applause from Theis' supporters. Carpenter, of Cahokia, is a BAC student who played on Theis' varsity basketball team and also assisted her in coaching.

The petition read, in part, "Why keep the full-time men's coach who coaches only one sport, has several assistants, makes $25,000 a year and works with a number of athletes from out of the district or out of the state?"

"Why instead remove the women's coach who coaches three sports, with intramurals, has no assistant coaches and makes only $17,500 and only recruits within the district?" Jay Harrington is the college's athletic director for the men's sports.

BAC President Joe Cipfl told the audience that Theis was not fired, but let go as part of "restructuring" the athletic department. Hiring three or four part-time coaches who were experts in the individual sports would benefit female athletes as well as save money and resources, he said.

"It's highly unusual that a singular individual is responsible for all three major sports. We want to make certain female athletes are better served," Cipfl said after the meeting. The personnel committee would respond to the petitioner's concerns "in time," he said.

Theis earned $17,500 annually and the four part-timers will make $3,000 each.

The angry crowd moved out into the hallways after the board went into executive session. Friends, team members and opposing coaches said the athletic record will suffer because of Theis' dismissal.

"Consistently all the full-time women's coaches have winning teams. Nancy won 76 percent of her games — four-year schools go on to recruit from them," said Mary Hanning, a coach at DACO at Danville who played against Theis.

Theis did not have any paid assistants while she coached at BAC, instead relying on varsity players and parents for help. She has been in her position for five years.

Marinades Battle Barbecue Blahs

By Lynn Venhaus
Journal Staff Writer

Can't look at another pork steak or burger by the end of July? Need a new reason to spend time grilling outdoors when the temperature soars? We've got just the right prescription for midsummer barbecue blahs—try a marinade. You probably have the ingredients in your pantry right now.

Marinating is easy, doesn't require any special or exotic ingredients, and allows for use of economical cuts of meat. When cheaper cuts of beef such as round and chuck are marinated, they turn out tender, juicy and delicious when grilled.

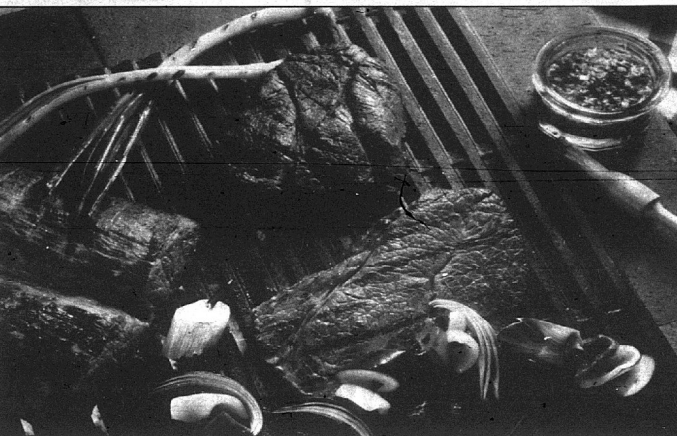

Most marinades are combinations of liquids, such as fruit or vegetable juice, wine and/or water, in combination with flavorful herbs and seasonings, and a small amount of oil. There's also a dry or pastellike marinade which is rubbed into the surface of the meat to add flavor.

To get maximum benefit from marinades, it is important to understand just what a marinade does. First, there are two kinds of marinades: those that only flavor meat; and those that flavor and tenderize.

A flavor marinade is ideal for tender beef cuts needing little or no tenderizing, such as sirloin, T-bone, top loin, tenderloin and rib eye steaks. Flavor marinading requires only a short time, a few minutes to two hours.

Tenderizing marinades contain an acidic ingredient, such as lemon juice, wine, vinegar, yogurt or buttermilk, which helps tenderize the meat fibers. For tenderization to occur, beef must be marinated six to eight hours or as long as overnight. The penetrating effect of a tenderizing marinade is about one-quarter inch from the cut surface of the meat.

The beauty of these tenderizing marinades is that they take just minutes to prepare and, once the beef is marinating, it requires minimal attention until time to grill. Large cuts, such as roasts, should be turned occasionally during marinating so that all sides are exposed equally to the marinade.

One note of caution: Don't be misled by the common misconception that "more is better." Marinating longer than 24 hours causes fibers on the meat's surface to break down, resulting in an unappealing, mushy texture.

Leftover marinades can be brushed on the beef during grilling, if you like. Those with a high sugar content or other ingredients that might burn easily should be brushed on during the last 20 minutes of grilling. Any remaining marinade also may be used as a sauce to accompany the grilled beef if heated to the boiling point before serving. Discard any marinade that is not used—never reuse a marinade.

Follow these additional tips to ensure good results when marinating beef:

- Use either cooked or uncooked marinades. Cooked marinades add the most flavor and are preferred for marinating that exceeds 12 hours. Cooked marinades should be completely cooled before use.

- Plan to use about $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ cup of marinade per pound of beef.

- Marinate in a securely closed heavy-duty plastic bag or covered utility dish in the refrigerator. Never marinate at room temperature.

The following tenderizing marinades are sure to pique your interest. There's one to fit every taste preference. Use them for beef steaks or roasts such as eye round, top round, blade or chuck. Recipes may be increased for steaks or roasts weighing more than one pound.

For additional recipes and tips for perfectly grilled beef, you can send away for a new booklet, "Great Grilled Beef," which is a foolproof guide to grilling favorites from burgers and franks to Herbed Chuck Steaks and Garlic-Stuffed Sirloin. To receive a copy, send name, address and 50 cents to cover postage and handling to: Meat Board, Dept. GGB-CC, 444 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill. 60611. Allow six to eight weeks for processing.

Vegetable	Preparation Instructions	Temp. of Coals	Total Cooking Time
Onions	Slice onions $\frac{1}{2}$ -inch thick	Medium	15 to 20 minutes; turn occasionally
Corn	Pull husks from corn, leaving husks attached to base. Remove corn silk. Wrap husks back around corn; tie at end of each ear. Soak corn in cold water 3 to 4 hours. Remove from water and grill.	Medium	20 to 30 minutes; turn frequently
Eggplant	Cut small Japanese-style eggplants (about 3 to 4 ounces each) in half lengthwise.	Medium	10 to 12 minutes; turn once
Leeks	Clean leeks well; trim tops. Grill whole small ones or larger ones that have been cut in half.	Medium	12 to 15 minutes; turn occasionally
Tomatoes	Slice tomatoes $\frac{1}{2}$ - to $\frac{3}{4}$ -inch thick	Medium	5 to 8 minutes; turn once

Mushrooms	Grill whole mushrooms (1½- to 2-inch diameter).	Medium	12 to 14 minutes; turn occasionally
Potatoes	Cook or microwave small red or all-purpose white potatoes (3 to 4 ounces each) until barely tender when tested with fork. Place in cold water to stop cooking; drain well. Thread potatoes on skewers.	Medium	10 to 15 minutes; turn occasionally

For best results, place beef on grill 4 to 5 inches above medium coals. Use direct method for grilling. The grill may be open or covered. Turn steaks once halfway through cooking.

To prepare for direct method of grilling, open any vents in bottom grill. Mound charcoal briquets in into pyramid shape or place in chimney starter and ignite. When coals are ash covered, spread in single layer and check cooking temperature. To check the temperature, cautiously hold the palm of your hand 4 inches above the coals. Count the number of seconds you can hold your hand at that position before the heat forces you to pull it away: 4 seconds for medium, 5 seconds for low.

Grilled vegetables are easy, delicious accompaniments to a barbecue meal. They need no preparation other than cleaning and a light brushing with vegetable oil or olive oil.

For variety, skewer similar-sized vegetable pieces and cook until tender. Place prepared vegetables on grill 4 to 5 inches above medium coals, and grill until tender following these guidelines:

Red Wine Marinade

- $\frac{1}{4}$ cup red wine vinegar
- 2 tbsp. vegetable oil
- 1 tbsp. Dijon-style mustard
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- $\frac{1}{2}$ tsp. dried Italian seasoning
- $\frac{1}{4}$ tsp. coarsely ground black pepper

Combine all ingredients, stirring until well-blended. Makes about $\frac{1}{2}$ cup.

Beer-Onion Marinade

- $\frac{1}{4}$ cup chopped onion
- 1 tsp. vegetable oil
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup beer
- 2 tbsp. cider vinegar
- $\frac{1}{2}$ tsp. dry mustard
- $\frac{1}{4}$ tsp. coarsely ground black pepper

Cook onion in oil in small saucepan over medium heat until tender, about 3 minutes. Stir in beer, vinegar, mustard and $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon pepper. Remove from heat; cool thoroughly before adding beef. Makes about $\frac{1}{2}$ cup.

Note: After removing beef from marinade, sprinkle with $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon coarsely ground black pepper per pound of beef, pressing gently into surface of meat.

- 1 tsp. packed brown sugar
- 1 tsp. vegetable oil
- 3 tbsp. cider vinegar

- 1 tbsp. reduced-sodium soy sauce
- 1 tsp. vegetable oil
- $\frac{1}{2}$ tsp. grated fresh ginger or $\frac{1}{4}$ tsp. ground ginger
- $\frac{1}{4}$ tsp. crushed red pepper pods

- $\frac{1}{4}$ tsp. ground red pepper

Combine all ingredients, stirring until well blended. Makes $\frac{1}{2}$ cup.

Note:

Low-fat diet can encourage blood to flow through heart

By Janice Denham
Food editor

Heart-health educator Ron Goor calls a heart attack a "simple plumbing problem." He explained to participants of the 1989 Dairy Council Writers' Conference that the heart pumps almost 2,000 gallons of blood through the body every day, making a round trip through the body every two minutes. One-fourth of each of the three major arteries needs to be open for a perfectly normal lifestyle, but their narrowing is going on inexorably in every human being.

"During a heart attack, what people feel is the muscle cells dying," he said. "One of the myths is that modern medicine can fix them up. But once that muscle cell is dead, it is dead forever."

Goor was 31 when he found out his cholesterol level was 311 milligrams per deciliter. The maximum safe level is 200 mg/dl. The average cholesterol of a person who has a first heart attack is 235 mg/dl. Goor essentially was a young man who did not pick his ancestors well as they were prone to heart attacks.

Goor lowered his blood cholesterol to the safe level by changing his eating style. He went back to school and became national coordinator of the program at the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute of the National Institutes of Health, which tested whether lowering blood cholesterol would lower the risk of heart disease.

In spreading the word, Goor advises adopting a diet with lower total dietary fat intake so it reduces blood cholesterol to a safe level. He uses a formula estimating that 10 percent of expected calories in a day should be spent on saturated fat, whether it comes from meat, dairy products or solid fats.

He has put his plan into a book, "Eater's Choice" (Houghton Mifflin Co., 1989, $11.95), written after leaving the National Institutes of Health. The plan is used by some dietitians for people who need the reliance of working with numbers.

His book includes guidelines for improving eating patterns and recipes for implementing them.

Here are some tips for pursuing a heart-healthy eating style:

•Enjoy eating. No food must be eliminated completely. It may need to be reduced in quantity or frequency.

•Most foods contain some fat, but most of it is hidden. Only about one-fourth of fat intake is a fat added at the table, such as salad dressing or bread spreads.

•Better grades of beef actually contain more fat for good taste and juiciness. Always trim fat before cooking. If hamburgers cannot be given up or avoided, pick the leanest grade available, then broil rather than pan-fry them so some of the fat drips away. Immediately after cooking, place the burger between paper towels to absorb excess fat.

•It costs no more to eat a heart-healthy diet than to eat one that may lead to heart disease. Replacing fat-laden foods with fruits, vegetables, breads and pasta may have another healthful result — weight loss.

•Take a cue from research into oils and use olive oil when a fat is needed. Another oil leading the pack in tests is canola oil, which Goor does not prefer for human consumption because, unlike olive oil, it has not been tested over time.

•Beware of healthy-sounding buzz words like "no-cholesterol." This type of food still may not be heart-healthy because it contains a load of saturated fat.

•Regular salad dressings are deceptive. They hold a lot of fat. Judge how much dressing is being served at a restaurant by noting that one ladle holds two tablespoons. Always ask that dressing be served in a separate dish, rather than on the salad. Dipping a fork in the dressing, then picking up the salad is among the best ways to get the flavor and very little dressing.

•If a splurge is expected, compensate ahead of time by lightening up "before" meals, not waiting until after the peccadillo. People usually are better at splurging than compensating.

Peaches assume good-tasting task of spicing up fragrant pie

The peach harvest is in full swing. Those golden orbs, announced in advance by their intense fragrance, offer out-of-hand eating, old-fashioned preserving and baking before the summer heat warms the kitchen's lining.

If this season's crop of fresh peaches is inspiration for baking pies, try these two exceptional recipes. The fillings are only as good as the peaches, so choose them well. Select fruit with a creamy or yellowish background color rather than a rosy blush, an indicator of variety, not ripeness.

Peaches should be plump, fragrant and fairly firm. Ripe peaches yield slightly to gentle pressure. To soften peaches, place the fruit together in a loosely closed paper bag and let stand at room temperature, checking daily, until the fruit yields to gentle pressure. This may take several days.

Both of these spicy pies use lots of ripe fresh peaches. Cut and quarter them into Spicy Fresh Peach Pie, superbly flavored with brown sugar, cinnamon, ginger and nutmeg, or spice them into Spicy Peach Pie, sweetened with white sugar instead of brown and spiced with cloves instead of ginger.

Serve warm slices of these wonderful peach pies with vanilla ice cream. Another dreamy topping is creme chantilly, made with whipped cream, sweetened by vanilla and sugar or a flavoring of choice.

For dip or dinner, tomato salsa perfect

Chop fresh tomato, some onion, hot or sweet peppers, parsley and seasonings to create a fresh tomato salsa that is delicious for dips, as a topper for meats like burgers and chops, baked potatoes, scrambled eggs and omelets.

Spicy fresh peach pie

Pasty for double-crust pie
 1/2 cup brown sugar, packed
 1/2 cup flour
 1/2 tsp. cinnamon
 1/2 tsp. ginger
 1/2 pinch nutmeg
 5 large fresh peaches, quartered

Line bottom of 9-inch pie plate with pastry.
 In large bowl, combine sugar, flour, cinnamon, nutmeg, and ginger. Mix until well blended. Add peaches. Toss gently to coat peaches evenly.
 Pour filling into unbaked pie shell. Cover with top crust. Cut 4 slits for steam to escape.

Bake in 400° oven 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 375° and continue baking 50 to 60 minutes longer or until pie is golden.

Serve with whipped cream or ice cream, if desired.
 Makes 8 servings.

Note: To freeze, place unbaked pie in freezer container and freeze. Do not thaw before baking. Bake as above.

Spiced peach pie
 Pasty for double-crust pie
 6 fresh, medium peaches, sliced (4 cups)
 1/2 tsp. cinnamon
 1/2 tsp. nutmeg
 1/2 pinch cloves
 1/2 cup flour
 1/2 cup sugar
 1 tsp. butter

Line 9-inch pie pan with one crust.

Combine peaches, cinnamon, nutmeg, cloves, flour and sugar. Dot with butter. Cover with top pastry. Seal and vent.

Bake in 425° oven 45 to 50 minutes.
 Makes 8 servings.

Farm-raised catfish schooled as summer seafood delicacy

Guess who's coming to dinner. Why, it's catfish, that good old buddy from the South.

Today's dinner guest is the product of a new upbringing—the well-bred, well-fed, farm-raised catfish, one of nature's most efficient members of the food chain.

Farm-raised catfish have made their way not only to red-checked, but also to white tablecloths from Manhattan to Los Angeles. They are gaining a reputation for being light-textured, sweet-tasting and totally lacking the fishy odor that plagues many other fish.

And Americans everywhere are literally taking catfish to heart. It is low in total fat and saturated fat, high in protein, low in calories and sodium, low in cholesterol.

A 3.5-ounce-serving of catfish contains about 115 calories, compared with 170 calories in beef sirloin and 240 calories in pork loin. That same serving of catfish contains about 65 milligrams cholesterol, less than similar portions of lean beef, lamb, veal or skinless chicken. All that, and it is a bargain source of skinned, boneless protein.

Catfish is readily available in various cuts. Filets can be pan-sautéed or grilled for a quick dinner.

Pan-sautéed catfish With Sauce Provencale

4 (5 to 8 oz. each) catfish filets, seasoned lightly with salt and pepper
 1/2 cup flour
 1/2 cup oil
 1 cup butter or margarine
 2 medium tomatoes, peeled, diced, drained
 1/2 cup chopped green onions
 1 cup sliced mushrooms
 2 cloves garlic, finely minced
 1/2 cup white wine
 Salt and cayenne pepper to taste
 2 tsp. chopped parsley

Dust catfish with flour. In heavy skillet, heat oil over medium-high heat. Sauté catfish 3 to 5 minutes on each side until golden brown and fully cooked. Remove from pan. Keep warm. In clean skillet, melt butter. Add mushrooms. Sauté until they begin to brown, 3 to 4 minutes.

Saute green onions 1 minute. Sauté tomatoes about 30 seconds, just until tomatoes are hot.

Add wine. Cook another 2 minutes. Season to taste. Add chopped parsley.

Spoon mixture evenly over each filet. Serve immediately. Makes 4 servings.

Grilled catfish With Dijon Mustard

4 (5 to 8 oz. each) catfish filets
 3 tbsp. Dijon mustard
 Vegetable oil
 Salt and pepper to taste

Preheat grill. Coat each side of each filet with 1/4 tablespoon mustard. Let stand 30 minutes. Salt and pepper.

If using presoaked wood chips or other flavoring, sprinkle them over hot coals or lava rocks. Brush grill lightly with oil.

Place fish in oiled basket. Grill over hot or high heat 3 to 5 minutes per side.

Serve immediately. Makes 4 servings.

The senior citizen AARP holds annual event

Chapter 1340 of the American Association for Retired Persons held its annual celebration of July 4 on Wednesday, July 12, at Township Hall.

Members enjoyed a "Bring Your Own Picnic Lunch," followed by an evening of dancing to the music of the Alley Cats.

President June Fritz introduced the chapter's invited guest, Warren Stookey, who recently took office as the assistant state director of AARP. Community service projects have included used clothing donations to Protestant Welfare and to Catholic Charities.

In addition, the chapter made several money donations.

One hundred dollars was accepted by Nancy Kaprelian, public relations coordinator on behalf of Hospice of Madison County at the June membership meeting.

Dan Brown, president-elect of the Granite City Ambassadors, accepted a $100 check to assist the community in reaching its goal of $80,000 for a Fitness Trail around Wilson Park.

The next membership meeting will be Wednesday, Sept. 13, at Township Hall.

Program agenda and service project will be announced in the September newsletter.

HUD program protects investment

Jack Kemp, secretary of Housing and Urban Development, has announced a test program to help seniors borrow against home equity.

Under the program, HUD will insure loans with banks for homeowners 62 and older who own their homes or owe a small balance on them. The amount of the loan is determined by a bank appraisal and the bank sets the rate of interest on the loan. The loan does not have to be repaid until the house is sold.

The program allows borrowers to either take the loan in fixed monthly payments or to use it to set up credit with the bank.

As long as the homeowner who applied for the loan lives in the home, it cannot be sold without permission. If the senior sells the home, he keeps the proceeds that exceed the balance of the insured mortgage.

Call 800-245-2691.

Chouteau group making plans

Chouteau Township Senior Citizens will host its second annual luau at the regular meeting July 27. Several members of the group will perform a hula dance lead by instructors Cissie Pengel and Paula Ballew. On Aug. 15, the group will attend the St. Louis Cardinals vs. Atlanta Braves baseball game at Busch Stadium in St. Louis.

Income tax hits in August

By Dennis McMurray
Staff writer

SPRINGFIELD—Although Gov. James Thompson signed the temporary increase in state income tax rates into law July 3, most people won't see it reflected in their paychecks until August.

The new law, which raises the individual tax rate from 2.5 percent to 3 percent, was retroactive to July 1.

Some companies already have increased withholding, said Helen Adorjan, a spokesman for the Department of Revenue.

But most companies probably will wait until they receive notification and new tax tables from the state.

The department will mail new state income tax tables to employers during the third week of July, she said.

The amount in state income tax withheld for someone earning $500 a week will increase to $15 from $12.50.

Although there may be a month or so delay in taking out the higher state income tax amounts, most people probably will not have to send in payments with their returns next year to make up for it, Adorjan said.

"The increase is relatively small for most people and probably will mean they will just get smaller refunds," she added.

Not everyone's state income tax liability will increase to 3 percent, however. The new law allows residents who pay property taxes to deduct twice that amount from their state income tax liability.

The higher rates, including a boost in the corporate rate from 4 to 4.8 percent, will be in effect for two years and expire on June 30, 1991, unless the Legislature extends them.

Most of the money raised by the tax increase will be used to increase state aid to schools and local governments.

Area school districts will receive increases from the tax in their monthly state aid payments starting in August.

The counties and municipalities also will get some money from the higher tax starting with their monthly payments in August, but they probably will not begin receiving the full increase until October, Adorjan said.

The governor on July 2 signed the bill increasing the state cigarette tax from 20 cents to 30 cents a pack. It was effective immediately, and the Department of Revenue already is selling the new tax stamps to distributors.

Under a bill signed by Thompson on July 1, the state gasoline tax will be increased from 13 cents to 16 cents a gallon on Aug. 1 and will rise to 19 cents on Jan. 1, 1990.

A bill imposing a sales tax on computer software would kick in at a 5 percent rate on Oct. 1 and then go to 6.25 percent Jan. 1, 1990.

Everyone has some risk factor. That does not mean you have cancer, or that you will develop cancer. However, the American Cancer Society estimates that 25% of Americans will have some form of cancer in their lifetimes, so the presence of risk factors should be discussed with a physician.

Most forms of cancer can be successfully treated if they are detected in early stages, and low cost cancer "screening" tests are an excellent means of early detection.

Conservation bids now being accepted

County officials of USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service are again accepting bids for the Conservation Reserve Program. The plan removes eligible cropland out of farming for 10 years and designates the acreage to trees or other permanent vegetation.

As the ninth CRP sign-up approaches, and remind producers of the program's success thus far, and remind producers of the 1990 closing.

"The total acreage enrolled in the program has reached more than 30 million acres," said ASCS administrator Keith Bjork. "The program has become the largest long-term cropland retirement program in U.S. history."

Approximately 3,770 acres of Madison County farmland are included in the CRP total to date. Eligible CRP acres include erodible cropland, cropped wetlands, filter strips, and cropland subject to scour erosion. The program has authorization to accept acreage only through 1990.

The voluntary CRP authorizes each farmer to receive up to $50,000 per year based on a per acre rental rate and the number of acres under the 10-year contract. Rental payments are made annually to producers with approved contracts, and cost-share payments are made to provide approximately one-half of the cost of the permanent vegetative cover established on each acre.

Bjork said the CRP has become a major tool in reducing erosion and in combating nonpoint source pollution in lakes and streams by stabilizing eroding cropland. "I encourage producers who farm erodible land or who have water runoff problems to consider the CRP and submit bids indicating the per acre rental payment they would accept to keep these acres out of crop production and into conserving uses for 10 years," said Bjork.

All bids for Madison County land in the ninth CRP sign-up must be received in the Madison County ASCS Office by 4:30 p.m. Aug. 4. For more information call or visit the Madison County ASCS Office.

Legislator defends state tax increases

SPRINGFIELD — Rep. Jim McPike, D-Alton, believes the area will reap substantial benefits from the quartet of tax increases approved by the Legislature.

McPike was the only area legislator who voted for all four of the increases. As House majority leader, he helped engineer their passage during the closing hours of the session.

Gov. James Thompson already has signed the bills increasing the state income tax for two years and permanently increasing gasoline and cigarette taxes.

"No one likes having to vote to raise taxes, but the savings and loan bailout by the federal government is going to cost each citizen of Illinois a lot more without any benefits to them than all of the state taxes we passed, that will mean a lot of benefits," McPike said.

McPike worked with House Speaker Michael Madigan, D-Chicago, to propose a temporary state income tax increase that was unveiled and passed in the House May 17. That bill ultimately failed to pass the Senate, but a modified version with some property tax relief was passed and signed into law at the end of the session.

"I believe it has lots of support in my district. It will mean substantial increases in state aid for schools," McPike said, "compromising on the income tax, the governor and a bipartisan group of legislative leaders then reached agreement on a package that included a 6-cent gas tax increase and a 10-cent-a-pack cigarette tax increase."

The gas tax will mean $140 million in additional road and bridge work over the next five years for northern Madison County, McPike said.

"One area will get much more back than we send to Springfield, and these projects will put a lot of construction people in our area to work."

The work will include a $50 million station on I-55, also known as the Alton Bypass, which will connect Interstate 270/265 at Pontonville to U.S. 67 in Godfrey.

The gas tax increase also will have the local matching money needed for the federal funds the state hopes to receive this fall to start construction of a new Clark Bridge, McPike said.

The cigarette tax increase was needed as part of the education funding package increase and for a series of new programs sought by the governor to combat and treat drug abuse, McPike said.

Although part of the cigarette tax money will be used to help provide additional money for sewage treatment plant construction in his district, Demuzio said he believed the local communities could have used their added income tax share to pay for that work.

Adding a sales tax on computer software could provide several million dollars for more improvements at Pere Marquette State Park, McPike said.

Willard Scott to forecast from State Fair

SPRINGFIELD — The excitement surrounding opening day festivities will entertain millions of viewers at their breakfast tables and provide the morning's initial adrenalin when Willard Scott hosts NBC News' "Today's" four morning weather windows live from the 1989 Illinois State Fair on Aug. 10.

Scott, accompanied by Gov. James R. Thompson and a select cast of State Fair participants, will roll out a welcome mat for the nation in the Main Gate area. Besides his weather reports, Scott will be available to do remote broadcasts via satellite with other networks outside the viewing area.

Designed especially for his fans, the State Fair will host a "meet and greet session" featuring Scott. He will sign autographs just inside the Main Gate from 7:45 to 8:15 a.m.

An ebullient Scott has made many mornings much brighter for millions of viewers, who tune in to "Today," since he first appeared on the program in March 1980 as the weather reporter.

Scott has traveled with America when the program originated from Buenos Aires and Rio de Janeiro; on a cruise along the eastern seaboard on the S.S. Norway; to Rome during Holy Week; and to the heartland of America, stopping at

Houston, New Orleans, Memphis, Indianapolis and Cincinnati on the "Today Express."

He hosted NBC News' coverage of the Macy Thanksgiving

Day Parade in 1987 and 1988 and has been making guest appearances on NBC's "Valerie's Family." Scott recently hosted NBC News' coverage of the 1989 Presidential Inaugural Day Parade.
